From the Jr. High- Emily Goddard

Traditions bind people together. They are a pattern with special significance. At MMAJH we are establishing traditions that will touch the lives of students for many years to come. One of these time honored moments is our overnight adventure to the Environmental Center. Each year 7th & 8th grade students pack up their mess kits, sleeping bags, and warm woollies to head up the nature's great outdoor classroom. This year we practiced preparing our tinder and kindling to start mini camp fires using flint and steel. Each student foraged for materials to create an ephemeral name plaque. We also applied a new water color technique, wrote poetry, had a pretty intense board game session, and went winter geocaching.

We are excited to continue with a tradition we started last year with our February carnation deliveries. This fundraiser is fast approaching. In preparation, our students are issuing a single flower vase drive. We know you have these beauties stashed in cabinets around the house. Dust them off and send them our way to partner with the carnations in helping our freshman climb to greater heights as they prepare to explore the canopy of the redwoods in California this May.

Amazing things are happening. In my social skills groups we have been learning some character traits that we can use and take with us for the rest of our lives. We have been learning things like cooperation, fairness, forgiveness, relationships, caring, and citizenship. There have been some great discussions, as well as learning experiences that have helped reinforce these lessons.

In the Junior High, midterms for the freshman have just been mailed home. Please be on the lookout for them. This will give you a better idea of where your child stands and if they need to spend the next couple of weeks working on bringing up their grades. As a reminder the end of the quarter is January 15, 2016. I would LOVE to be able to see every freshman passing their classes.

Weekly missing assignment reports have also been sent home with students, for ALL students in the junior high. Please also be on the lookout for them.

Beautiful things are happening in our junior high. There is so much to be proud of. We all have become quite the community. All of your help and support makes this wonderful program a reality.

Don't forget! Angel Tree gifts due by Thursday

We are so excited all of MMA's angels have been taken from the Angel Tree. MMA's community is so generous. Please remember gifts will need to be turned in to the front office by December 17th. Please bring the angel tags back with your gift. Thank you for your support.

Don't forget that this Friday is a Jeans day! Students may wear jeans with no rips, tears, or stains!

International Festival is this Week!

Families are welcome to come visit our International Festival and see the wonderful projects our students have put together.

The times are:

Wednesday: 9:00-11:00 Upper El and AM Early Childhood
Thursday: 12:30-2:30 Lower El and PM Early Childhood
Friday: 9:00-11:00 Jr. High

Students are free to dress up to match their projects, but please no masks. Foods brought in must follow the school's wellness policy.
